Slaughter and May is a leading international law firm with a worldwide corporate, commercial, financing, competition, dispute resolution, insolvency, intellectual property and financial regulation practice.

Every year we have places for candidates wishing to enter into a two-year training contract with our Hong Kong office. We welcome applications from law and non-law undergraduates and postgraduates. Our aim is that our trainees stay with us on qualification and pursue their careers at Slaughter and May. We also run vacation schemes during the summer vacation for those considering law as a career.

If you are interested in hearing more about this exciting career opportunity, please join us at our Open Evening. It will be an informal event for you to meet our partners and allow us to introduce to you aspects of our firm and practice.
